

-26-

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An implantable medical device (IMD) comprising a device housing, and which may further include a component case. An insulating material or layer is formed on at least one of the interior and/or exterior surfaces of the device housing and/or component case. The insulating material may be comprised of a metal oxide, a plastic material, an epoxy material or a ceramic material.

5

1009563 12004